Oct 01 Posted by Beverly Ann Wood in Landslide2020!

This presidential election cycle is like none we've ever witnessed. Unprecedented events have taken place so far this year which make this election unique. First we had an endless supply of entertainment in the form of the sham 'impeachment' of a duly elected president, which ended without conviction due to a fraudulent case. Then came the China virus, aka the 'covid' pandemic which has changed the way a large part of the world's population lives and does business, including the way many states plan to collect the vote. From instituting strict health guidelines forcing the wearing of facemasks and "social distancing" at voter precincts, to the bulk mailing of unsolicited ballots to every person, dead or alive, legal or illegal, in the state, voting this year will not be the same, raising concerns of voter fraud, about which there have been many confusing reports in the lamestream media.

In the United States of America, all citizens have a right to vote and to have their vote count.

As The Heritage Foundation explains:

1. "The right to vote in a free and fair election is the most basic civil right, one on which many other rights of the American people depend."
2. "Congress and the states should guarantee that every eligible individual is able to vote and that no one's vote is stolen or diluted."
3. "Voter fraud is real and hundreds of convictions have been made and documented."

"Preserving the great experiment that is the American republic is dependent upon free and fair elections. When selecting a city councilor or the president of the United States, every American must be able to trust the process and the result, or the democratic system itself breaks down.

"Election integrity is essential and the security of the ballot box cannot be left to a simple honor system. It is incumbent upon state governments to safeguard the electoral process, and ensure that every voter's right to cast a ballot is protected.

The history of voting in the United States

-"Contrary to the claims of many liberals, the problem of voter fraud is as old as the country itself. As the U.S. Supreme Court noted when it upheld Indiana's voter identification law, "flagrant examples" of voter fraud "have been documented throughout this Nation's history by respected historians and journalists."

"Attempts to commandeer election results have been documented dating back to the 19th century, when New York City's infamous Tammany Hall was synonymous with political corruption and election fraud. In one New York election 1844, 55,000 votes were recorded even though there were only 41,000 eligible voters. Decades later, these efforts have continued and determined fraudsters have become only more creative in their efforts to fix the outcome of elections."

- Heritage.org 2020

We will focus on the three main methods of voter fraud.

Ballot Harvesting: the practice of collecting voter's ballots by 'political operatives' and turning them in all at once at a polling station. Although 'Ballot Harvesting' has been thought to be helpful for some individuals, the voters it actually helps is a tiny percentage compared to the damage done due it's fraudulent use.

This practice is ripe for corruption as the FindLaw team of experts reports:

"Incidents have been documented of campaign workers or hired workers collecting (or offering to collect) absentee or mail-in ballots to submit them to polling authorities. Not all of those ballots made it to the polling place.

"In one election in North Carolina, in a county where only 19% of registered voters are Republican, more than 60% of mail-in ballots came from Republicans. (Republicans do vote more often by mail than Democrats.)

"An unexpectedly large number of voters who specifically requested mail-in ballots did not return those ballots. Of the mail-in ballots requested by Black voters, fewer than 60% were returned; of the ballots requested by Native American voters, fewer than 40% were returned.

"North Carolina's State Board of Elections declined to certify the Republican winner of the race because of these irregularities. It was later discovered that a political operative was running a voter fraud ring. Ballots were collected from voters, and witness certifications were signed saying that the person picking up the ballot had seen the voter sign the ballot when they had not. Then these ballots were mailed in a way that "concealed the fact that the voter had not personally mailed it himself."

"According to the indictment, the political operative acted with intent to defraud and "did obstruct public justice [by] resulting in the counting of spoiled absentee ballots."

ALLUM BOKHARI - Breitbart 27 Sep 2020

Vote-by-Mail is another system that can be used to engineer voter fraud. Vote-by-mail is NOT absentee ballot voting. It is the practice of sending, with no request or ID needed, voter ballots to every registered voter for that voting cycle. Example: The state of Washington is entirely Mail-In Voting since 2011 and has already mailed out ballots for the 2020 Presidential Election.

In an interview on 2 Sep 2020, AG Barr voiced his concern with mass Vote-by-Mail ballots stating using them is 'Playing With Fire'.

The Federalist explains: "While he believes absentee voting is acceptable because it requires a request to a specific address, Barr argued that there are multiple instances of mass mail-in ballots going wrong. He even offered examples, telling the story of one Texan man that indicted by the Attorney General's office for marking his preferred candidate on 1,700 ballots."

Barr stated..."What we're talking about is mailing them to everyone on the voter list when everyone knows those voter lists are inaccurate. People who should get them, don't get them, which is what has been one of the major complaints in states that have tried this in municipal elections. And people who get them are not the right people. They're people who have replaced the previous occupant and they can make them out. Sometimes multiple ballots come to the same address with a whole several generations of occupants. You think that's a way to run a vote?"

Jordan Davidson - The Federalist 3 Sep 2020

"There's no such thing as voter fraud." -- @jaketapper <https://t.co/q9QOxRuX6n>

— Nick Searcy, INTERNATIONAL FILM & TELEVISION STAR (@yesnicksearcy) October 7, 2020
In a flawed Vote-by-Mail system, ballots are sent out to addresses on voter registration roles without verification that said voter still lives at that address which leaves this system open for corruption to occur.

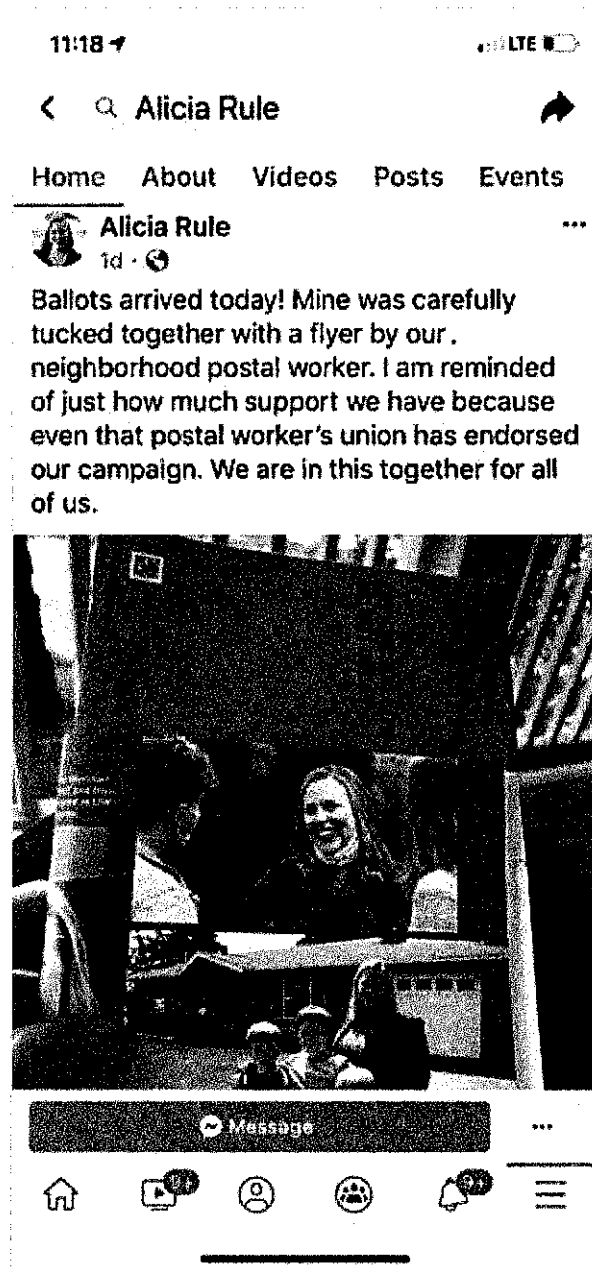

Why do they keep saying "mail-in ballots?"

There's a difference between voting via absentee and universal vote by mail!

Let's vote in person!

— Students For Trump (@TrumpStudents) September 30, 2020

An absentee ballot, which is requested by the voter and in most states needs proof of identity to apply for and use, is not the same as a Vote-by-Mail ballot. A Vote-by-Mail ballot is completely unsolicited and sent to addresses on the voter rolls with no ID required to verify if a registered voter still lives there and if they qualify, via proper ID, to vote! Many issues can arise, one of which is, as we are now discovering, some residents received up to 3 ballots for one individual at the same address.

This is just one example of election tampering that can happen using Vote-by-Mail:

In July of 2020, Alicia Rule, a Democrat running for 42nd Legislative District in Whatcom County, WA, wrote this Facebook post showing off her campaign pamphlet which was wrapped around the unsolicited vote-by-mail ballot she received. She received replies from constituents who were happy to report the same happened to them.

"The Trump campaign is waging an all-out legal war to stop the expansion of vote-by-mail in 7 different states" per Business Insider

"As the November election nears closer, President Donald Trump has for months railed against states' attempts to expand mail-in-voting to alleviate fears associated with in-person voting during the coronavirus pandemic.

"Trump and his allies have for months claimed without evidence that an expansion of mail-in voting via the postal service will lead to widespread voter fraud

Postal Service will lead to widespread voter fraud.

"Beginning in June, the Trump campaign has taken legal action against several states, including New Jersey, Nevada, North Carolina, Iowa, Pennsylvania, and Montana, over their plans to more easily allow voters to cast their ballot by mail. The president's campaign similarly attempted to take aim against a group of six members of the Navajo Nation in Arizona, who are suing the state to extend the deadline to receive and count mail-in ballots.

"The fight over mail-in voting is poised to continue until and likely past Election Day, Politico reported Sunday, as the Trump campaign has hired a "massive legal network" consisting of dozens of attorneys to help support current and potential legal challenges in key battleground states."

FACT CHECK: "Biden Claims 'No One Has Established' There Is 'Fraud Related to Mail-in Ballots' "

Breitbart debunks Joe Biden's claim:

"CLAIM: Joe Biden (D) claimed that "no one has established" that there is fraud related to mail-in voting.

"VERDICT: FALSE. There have been several well-documented examples of fraud and error in relation to vote-by-mail.

"During a discussion on accepting the results of the election and the increase in mass vote-by-mail, Biden proclaimed that "no one has established, at all, that there is fraud related to mail-in ballots — that somehow it's a fraudulent process."

" "It's already been established," Trump quipped, prompting Biden to say that Trump had "no idea what he's talking about."

"Despite the former vice president's claim, there are numerous instances of fraud and error related to vote-by-mail, as Breitbart News has extensively detailed over the months.

"This month, for example, several mailed-in ballots in Wisconsin were discovered in a ditch alongside other mail. Recently in Virginia, 1,000 people who requested absentee ballots received two in the mail; and over the summer, a dead cat in Atlanta received a voter registration form by mail.

"Also over the summer, two Paterson, New Jersey, councilmen and two men linked to a councilman's campaign were charged with "election fraud, mail-in voting fraud, and illegal possession of mail-in ballots," as Breitbart News extensively detailed.

"Additionally, a local TV station conducted an experiment over the summer, which further exposed the flaws in the vote-by-mail system. They sent 100 "mock ballots" from across the city to a P.O. box set up specifically for the test." The experiment found that just 97 percent of the ballots arrived, leaving three percent of voters effectively "disenfranchised by mail."
<https://rubyraymedia.com/index.php/top-stories/landslide2020-view-all-articles/voter-fraud?tmpl=component&print=1&format=print>

"Last month, a Democrat operative stated that anti-Trump United States Postal Service (USPS) workers will "sometimes help election fraudsters by throwing in the garbage mail-in ballots from Republican-heavy neighborhoods."

"Additionally:

- New York City officials mailed absentee ballots with the incorrect names and addresses on the return envelopes.
- Michigan clerks had to reject 10,694 primary ballots because the voters were deceased.
- Hundreds of New Jersey Republicans received mail-in primary ballots featuring Democrat candidates.
- A mail carrier in Virginia's Pendleton County pleaded guilty to election fraud for "altering the party affiliation on absentee ballot request."
- Over 1,600 New Jersey primary ballots were discovered in a "mislabeled" bin after the election.

"Over the weekend, Trump provided further evidence of vote-by-mail fraud to reporters, as Breitbart News reported:

- In Brooklyn, 25 percent of mail-in ballots were ruled invalid during the June Democrat primary.
- In a New Jersey special election, nearly 20 percent of the ballots were thrown out, and four people are being prosecuted for fraud.
- In a Florida primary, more than 35,000 mail-in ballots were rejected, and over 100,000 ballots were rejected in California.
- In Pennsylvania's primary, half of the counties were still counting ballots a week after the election.
- The story of discarded military ballots discovered in Pennsylvania, many of them were cast for Trump.
- Reports in Wisconsin of three trays of mail containing absentee ballots were found in a ditch.
- In North Carolina, voters reported receiving two ballots in the mail.

" "We are gravely concerned about the Democrat assault on election integrity," Trump said at the time."

A SAMPLING OF ELECTION FRAUD CASES FROM ACROSS THE COUNTRY

The United States has a long and unfortunate history of election fraud. The Heritage Foundation is providing a list of election fraud cases from across the country, broken down by state, where individuals were either convicted of vote fraud, or where a judge overturned the results of an election. This is not an exhaustive list but simply a sampling that demonstrates the many different ways in which fraud is committed. Preventing, deterring, and prosecuting such fraud is essential to protecting the integrity of our voting process.

Voter Fraud schemes involving Ballot Harvesting and Vote-by-Mail are being identified more readily and carry no political boundaries. For every one example of voter fraud we read about or witness, many others exist that go unmentioned.

Biden's Texas Political Director Implicated in Massive Mail-In Ballot Harvesting Scheme in Harris County

"A Biden Campaign operative in Texas is attempting to rig the 2020 election with the help of others in a massive ballot harvesting scheme, according to two private investigators who testified under oath that they have "video evidence, documentation and witnesses" to prove it. With the help of mass mail-in ballots, the illegal ballot harvesting operation could harvest 700,000 ballots, one Harris County Democrat operative allegedly bragged.

"The investigators—a former FBI agent and former police officer—claim that Biden's Texas Political Director Dallas Jones and his cohorts have been "hoarding mail-in and absentee ballots" and ordering operatives to fill them out for people in Harris County illegally, "including dead people, homeless people, and nursing home residents in the 2020 presidential election," Patrick Howley of the National File reported.

Florida man who requested mail-in ballot for dead wife hit with voter fraud charges

"Larry Wiggins, 62, a registered Democrat from Sarasota, requested the mail-in ballot for his wife this month even though she died in 2018, the Manatee County Sheriff's Office said Thursday.

"Sheriff's department officials said that Wiggins admitted to mailing in his deceased wife's ballot request and told detectives that he was "testing the system to see if it worked."

"He wanted to test the system," Manatee Supervisor of Elections Mike Bennett told the Sarasota Herald-Tribune. "He did test the system and guess what? It worked." "

Robert Gearty - Fox News 3 Oct 2020

Another way election fraud can occur is with incomplete or inaccurate Voter Registration Rolls. It is a federal mandate that each state update their voter rolls. Each state has their own guidelines for doing so and much clean up activity involves removing voters due to illegal registration, voter inactivity and voter no longer at registered address.

States routinely purge voters from voter registration rolls as The Hill discovered:

"State and local election offices have purged more than 30 million voters from registration rolls in the past five years, according to a new report — and the number may be far higher.

"The report from the Brennan Center for Justice found election officials removed at least 17 million voters from the rolls between 2016 and 2018, on top of the 16 million registrations that were canceled between 2014 and 2016.

"States routinely clean up voter lists and cancel registrations either because those voters moved to another state, died or have gone for long periods of time without casting a ballot."

REID WILSON - thehill.com 01 Aug 2019

Mistakes in voter registration clean-up can be and are made by states resulting in voters being cleared from the rolls without proper justification. Although much of the time, the opposite usually occurs as many names stay on the rolls that do not belong and states can then be caught up in a lawsuit to 'help' them clean up their rolls properly.

Houston: Lawsuit Seeks to Remove 'Hundreds' of Noncitizens from Voter Rolls

"A lawsuit filed in Houston on Monday (27 Sep 2020) by the Public Interest Legal Foundation (PILF) seeks to remove noncitizens from the voter rolls.

"The suit filed in Harris County alleged, "noncitizens were registered to vote, even after they identified themselves as noncitizens on their voter registration applications," Fox 26 reported.

"The suit included "dozens" of images showing a registrant checking the "No" box on the citizenship portion of the form.

"According to PILF, hundreds of noncitizens were registered to vote for "several years before the error was identified and corrected."

"In essence what we have here is evidence of people saying they are not U.S. citizens on voter registration records in Harris County, and yet they are becoming registered voters anyway," PILF spokesman Logan Churchwell said.

"Some of the applications were several years old. PILF has attempted to obtain more recent filings but has been rebuffed by Registrar Ann Harris Bennett.

"Bennett refused to speak to Fox 26, but said later in a statement, "The Harris County Voter Registrar successfully maintains 2.4 million Harris County voter records."

"Churchwell told the news station that PILF attempted to obtain records from the registrar in 2017 and 2018 and was denied, so the group filed suit.

"A recent report by PILF found 350,000 dead voters are still on the rolls across the country.

"According to the report, titled, "Critical Condition: American Voter Rolls Filled with Errors, Dead Voters, and Duplicate Registrations," 349,773 "deceased registrants" have been found on rolls in 41 states. Fifty-one percent of those are in New York, California, and Texas, as well as the battleground states of Michigan and Florida.

"The report found that 43,760 "duplicate registrants appear to have cast second votes" from the same address in 2016, while 37,889 cast ballots in 2018.

"In Michigan, where Donald Trump won in 2016 by 10,704 votes, PILF found there were 34,225 deceased voters still on the rolls and a combined 13,597 double voters in the 2016 and 2018 elections.

" "Some of those voters who are registered multiple times "are casting multiple ballots," Adams recently told The Kyle Olson Show.

" "Michigan voter rolls are a mess, and that's exactly why Michigan should not be doing mail balloting until they clean up their act," he said."

KYLE OLSON - Breitbart.com 29 Sep 2020

NOTE: Some social media platforms are deciding for themselves, not based on actual facts, what is secure voting. Even when facts are presented by our president and his team as well as other legitimate legal sources, Twitter puts their biased opinion above the facts presented about Election Fraud and Vote-by-Mail and Ballot Harvesting corruption concerns. Our current 'main stream media' is known to do the same. A keen reminder of how communist countries' populations are kept misinformed by way of media biases and outright propaganda campaigns meant to keep the masses away from the truth.

Twitter wants YOU to believe universal mail-in-ballots are safe, even with evidence showing otherwise
